All articles on this blog originate from my mind.

Most articles are written by me, but some are partially or entirely AI/LLMs-generated.

Those articles will be tagged accordingly:

- No tag for completely original content.
- partially-ai-generated for articles with one or many AI-generated sentences or with some feedback provided by AI.
This covers articles where there is 1 word changed by AI to the article being almost entirely written by AI but with some human input.
- fully-ai-generated when all the content is AI-generated.
This covers articles that are entirely written by AI without any human input (except for possibly removing sentences).

I also use additional tags in relation to AI usage, namely:

- ai-feedback for articles that were edited following AI feedback.

I tag the articles with the LLMs that were involved.

Look for tags starting with `llm=`.

I use a variety of LLM providers (in order of frequency of use):

- Claude
- GitHub Copilot
- OpenAI ChatGPT
- Groq
- Poe
